ANNUAL TROY FAIR.

Many Interesting Attractions Provided This Year.

SOME OF THE EXHIBITS THERE

Base Ball Games a Feature of the Fair and Two of the Contests Were Close Ones—List of Principal Exhibitors.

The thirty-first annual fair of the Troy Agricultural society was held at Alparon Park on Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15. Liston Bliss is president this year. John A. Parsons vice president, L. H. Oliver, treasurer and D. F. Pomeroy secretary. F. N. Hubbard, J. L. Rockwell and E. E. VanDyne are also directors. While the weather was threatening on Wednesday, yet it cleared off nicely before noon and remained fair during the balance of the Fair.

Exhibits.

The exhibit of horses and cattle while good, was not so large as in some former years. Sheep and swine were plentiful, while the poultry exhibit did not include nearly so many individual exhibitors as in former years.

Horses.

Egbert Ward was superintendent. A. J. Rathbun of Grover, took first premium on a two year old driving horse which was probably the best colt for its age ever seen on the grounds. It was broke good single and was certainly a dandy. L. O. Harris of Granville Summit took first premium on a yearling, M. E. Howland of Columbia Cross Roads on a mare and colt; John S. Ballard of East Troy on a filly; Geo. Potter, Joseph Vicken, Garland Reynolds and A. B. Hammond also took prizes.

Cattle.

Fred I. Hooker of East Troy is scuperintendent. W. S. Sweet, Geo. F. Taylor and N. R. Stanton each exhibited holsteins. L. O. Harris, D. F. Pomeroy, G. W. Baxter, I. A. Rockwell, R. A. Rockwell and Frank Brace, grades. Austin Leonard and B. P. Leonard show Jerseys. Ezra Baxter of Troy showed two very fine yokes of oxen and an ox cart over 100 years old.

Sheep and Swine.

James Mahood was the superintendent. The exhibit of breeding sows and pigs were unusually good and included nearly all the leading breeds. The following were the principal exhibitors. John Monroe, Theo. Kenyon, G. B. Packard, I. A. Rockwell, B. P. Braund, S. B. Rockwell, D. F. Pomeroy, D. A. Ballard, James R. Card, W. H. Johns and F. I. Bradford.

Poultry.

James McMahon was superintendent. John Monroe was the leading exhibitor, showing over 40 cages; other exhibitions were Mrs. George Rumsey, L. A. Bourdette, Henry VanDyne, F. I. Bradford, Mrs. Helen Jenner, and F. L. Buck.

Farm Produce.

Arthur Kenyon was the superintendent. Mrs. W. H. Bradford had three tables of vegetables. Geo. F. Taylor vegetables, and grain, Theo. Kenyon fruit, Elmer Harkness fruit, D. A. Ballard corn, Arthur Kenyon fruit and honey, Mrs. Helen Jenner potatoes, Fred Bohlayer fruit, A. L. Griffith vegetables, Austin Leonard grain, and Ezra Baxter vegetables and rye. N. R.. Stanton, Theo. Kenyon, James Mahood, and Mrs. C. S. Wood took the prizes on butter, both in the tub and roll. F. I. Bradford captured the prizes on cheese.

Ladies Departments.

Miss Minine E. Buck was superintendent of the culinary department. Mrs. Frank Bach of the needlework department. Miss Jennette Kenyon of fine arts and Miss Laura VanDyne of the floral department. There was a great variety in each department Some of the principal exhibitors were Mrs. H. S. Montgomery of Elmira, Mrs. Waltzer of Elmira, Mrs. Rumsey of Mainesburg, Miss Nina Eldridge of Elmira, Mrs. Delos Rockwell of West Burlington, Mrs. Egbert Ward of Burlington, Mrs. W. E. Meeker, Mrs. George Gillan, Mrs. A. E. Backer, Miss Elizabeth VanDyne, Mrs. L. A. Beech and Miss Minnie Kenyon, Miss Annette Bowen, Mrs. George Holcomb, and Mrs. Ezra Baxter, all of Troy. H. N. Hoffman of Elmira, showed some red hot poker plants which attracted considerable attention. Among those who took prizes on paintings and drawings were Nettie Bowen, Nettie Baldwin, Belle Lamkin, Charlotte Paine, Mrs. N. E. Waltzer, Miss Jennie Newell, Clara Taylor, J. E. Sherwood and Henry VanDyne.

Merchants.

W. S. Sweet was superintendent of the Merchants building and Liston Bliss of farm machinery. McClen and Smith showed men's furnishings, Beardsley and Colony had a fine exhibit of Sterling ranges; Bliss, Willour and Price cloaks, furs and rugs; Rockwell and Galatin harnesses, gloves, and mittens; Carpenter and Pierce, Devoe paints; Wilson Weigster, Patton's sun proof paints; D. S. Andrus and Co., pianos and organs; Bee Hive, ladies' furnishings and seeds; Newell Bros., dishes. Under a seperate tent all by themselves Compton and Lilley showed a great variety of wagons, harnesses, plows and robes. They also show a cutting box in operation run by a gasoline engine operated by Finley Rogers.

Attractions.

As usual the management provided the best attractions obtainable. The Ladies' Cornet band of Covington, furnished music on Wednesday and did well for a ladies' band. Troy's band furnished music for Thursday and Friday and did very well for a band that has only been organized a little over a year. Frank P. Speilman's circus and trained animal show gave two performances daily in front of the grand stand.

Base Ball.

Base ball as usual was one of the leading attractions at the fair. A purse of $300 was offered by the management. The old rivalry between Troy and Canton reached its climax on Wednesday, when they met for the last time this season. It is said that over $3,000 changed hands on the result of this game alone. This was probably the best game ever seen on the local diamond. Canton at great expense brought the whole Coudersport club here to play for them. Troy had the greatest aggregation of players ever got together in this section. It included the best players from the Father Mathew club of Elmira and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., with a battery which was said to be from New York city. There were but few errors on either side and Troy seemd to have the best of it in the box. The result was as follows:

Hassett of Elmira umpired all the games during the Fair and gave entire satisfaction.

On Thursday Towanda and Mansfield played ball. Towanda was too much for Mansfield from the start and the game was too one sided to be interesting.

Towanda .....3 1 0 4 4 3 1 2 x	—18
Mansfield 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	—0

The game on Friday between Towanda and the Troy aggregation was another very good game. In order to make it very interesting for Troy, Towanda brought the Wilkes-Barre team to play for them and it was freely predicted before the game that Towanda would win. There the Troy pitcher was struck by a foul ball on the neck in the eighth inning but was afterwards able to go on with the game. The result was as follows:

Towanda 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0	—2
Troy .....1 0 0 0 3 0 1 0 x	—5

Fair Notes.

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED.

Against Man Who Sold Powder That Would Make Butter.

Through the complaint of B. H. Warren, commissioner of agriculture of Pennsylvania, submitted by Senator Boies Penrose, the postoffice department has issued a fraud order against Heustis & Co., of Jersey City, N. J. This firm advertised to "make a good pound of butter from a pint of milk and only a teaspoonful of our preparation." Charles Heustus, a young man about twenty-six years old, was getting a dollar from each of the farmers who answered the advertisement. Besides not obtaining the wonderful results promised, the farmers were inviting trips to the penitentiary on the charge of adulterating butter.

Trouble at Cold Spring.

John Garjsyenpi made complaint before Justice Meredith Monday that Jack and George Lareich and Joe Beiber on Sunday night threatened to kill Mike Stafinsic who was lying ill with a disabled limb in his house at Cold Spring and "did conspire together and cause a riot," etc. It is alleged that the men held a war dance around the house where the sick man lay, using pitch forks as war clubs. Constable Guy C. Hollon arrested the parties on Monday afternoon and they came here yesterday and gave bail for their appearance next Tuesday.

Is Pullman Conductor.

Dean W. Hill, formerly of Burlington, was in Towanda Tuesday. Mr. Hill is now engaged as a Pullman conductor and runs between Jersey City and Tampa, Fla.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

County Superintendent Has Arranged for Great Program.

SEVERAL GOOD INSTRUCTORS

Dr. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania and Dr. Corson of Ohio Among the List of School Experts Who Will Talk to the County Teachers.

One of the finest teachers institutes in the historky of Bradford county education will be the annual gathering of the teachers of the county in Towanda during the week of Oct. 9 to 13. County Superintendent Herbert S. Putnam has been sucessful in securing a corps of instructors and lecturers that for reputation in their respective branches cannot be excelled.

The day instructors are as follows: Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Dr. O. T. Corson, Hon. Henry Houck, Professor Charles H. Albert, Superintendent Chas. Lose, Miss Maud Willis and Professor O. H. Yetter. Dr. Brumbaugh is one of the most noted educators in the United States. He is professor of pedagogy in the University of Pennsylvania and president of Juniata college. He was the first commisioner of education in Porto Rico. He is a splendid speaker and when he was here a few years ago many business men of Towanda attended his talks during the day hours of the institute. He spoke to crowded audiences every time one of his talks was announced.

Mr. Corson is an ex-commissioner of schools in Ohio and is now editor of the Ohio Educational Monthly. He has written extensively on the centralization of schools and the transportation of pupils and is an authority on matters pertaining to rural schools. Mr. Houck is the deputy state superintendent of schools of Pennsylvania and he is so well known to most of the teachers of Bradford county that a mention of his many attractive qualities as an instructor is unnecessary.

Professor Albert is of the faculty of the Bloomsburg State Normal school. He comes highly recommended, and is of course deeply versed in the needs of the teachers. Mr. Lose is the superintendent of the schools of Williamsport and is a man of note in this section. Miss Willis is of the Lock Haven State Normal school faculty and will give instruction in elocution as well as read and recite. Mr. Yetter will again have charge of the music of the institute.

Evening Lectures.

The evening lectures and entertainments will include Dr. Brumbaugh, Dr. W. Quay Rosselle, United States Senator J. P. Dolliver, Dr. Bristol and the Lotus Glee Club. Dr. Brumbaugh will give an address on "Porto Rico," a subject with which he is thoroughly conversant. Dr. Rosselle is the pastor of the leading Baptist church at Williamsport and made a great hit in Towanda last winter when he lectured at the Baptist church here. He will deliver the same lecture at the institute course. Senator Dolliver of Iowa is one of the greatest orators that the country has produced. Dr. Bristol of Washington is a noted divine who devotes but a short time each year to lecturing. He is a masterful orator and is known as "The Little Giant of Methodism." The Lotus Glee club is a famous musical organization which is sure to please. From the notice of these lectures and entertainments it is easily seen that Superintendent Ptunam has secured one of the best, if not the best course for both day and evening, of any institute.

FOOT BALL SATURDAY.

Towanda High School Will Play Monroeton at East Side Grounds.

The first foot ball game of the season will be played at the East Side grounds here on Saturday afternoon when the Towanda High school team will play the Monroeton eleven. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and the admission will be 15 cents.

The High school team has been practicing for some days past and a strenuous effort will be made to put a good team in the field. The High school eleven has lost some of the big men it used to have but the younger members of the team are developing and getting bigger and stronger. Monroeton always puts up a good game and an interesting contest may be expected.

Killed at Spencer.

Thomas Ferris, employed by Contractor H. O. Hanson on the new school building at Spencer, N. Y., slid from the roof of the building on Wednesday of last week and was killed. A fellow workman was dashed to the ground and severely injured at the same time. Ferris lived in Waverly and is survived by a little boy five years old. His wife died a few weeks ago.

Railroader Fatally Hurt.

Francis Donahoe, 18 years old, of South Waverly, a Lehigh Valley brakeman, died in the Packer hospital at Sayre Tuesday morning from shock, the result of an accident on the previous day at Shields, N. Y. A Hungarian, Pete Oper, also of South Waverly, was badly bruised. The men were working on the track when an east-bound stock train whizzed by. They did not hear their own train backing toward them and were caught and thrown to the tracks. At the hospital it was found that both bones of Donahue's right leg between the ankle and knee were fractured and his back is badly bruised. The Hungarian is not so badly hurt.

Canton Church Improvements.

The First Baptist church of Canton which had been closed during the month of August for repairs during the vacation of Rev. F. W. Johnson, was reopened for worship Sunday morning and the attendants were delighted at the transformation. The improvements were made at the cost of about $400. The main auditorium is finished in green, green paper and green carpet and presents a beautiful effect indeed. The Sunday school rooms, have all been recarpeted and papered, and are most attractive and cosy in appearance.—Sentinel.

First one department, then another will be put in active operation until the entire works are moving."

THE SIXTH RESERVES

Annual Reunion Held in Towanda on Saturday Last.

OLD OFFICERS REELECTED.

East Smithfield Selected as the Meeting Place for Next Year—Addresses Were Made by Judge Fanning and Others, and Enjoyable Time Had.

The survivors of the famous Sixth Pennsylvania Reserves held their annual reunion in Towanda on Saturday and the veterans and their wives had a highly enjoyable time. The business session was held in the morning in the rooms of Watkins Post in the Historical society building. L. W. Forrest of East Smithfield was re-elected president and Diton Phelps of the same place was re-elected secretary and treasurer. It was decided to hold the next reunion at East Smithfield, the time for the meeting to be decided later.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the First Baptist church in the basement of the church building on South Main street and it was a fine one. The afternoon session was held in the church auditorium. In the absence of Rev. Francis Tuck, Ph. D., pastor of the church, scripture and a prayer delivered by Dr.. O. A. Houghton of the Methodist Episcopal church. The audience joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and this was followed by a well received address by Judge A. C. Fanning.

The Baptist choir sang and then R. H. Holgate, Esq., of Scranton, gave an address which was excellent. The choir sang "Flag of Liberty," and Colonel E. J. Ayers followed in an address of welcome to the Sixth Reserves as commander of Watkins Post of this place. Rev. H. G. Blair, who served through the war with the Pennsylvania "Bucktails" then sang "We've Drunk From the Same Canteen," accompanying himself on the organ. He was enthusiastically applauded.

John H. Chaffee of the One Hundred and Forty-first regiment was called on and responded briefly but to the point. Captain James Bryant of the Fifth New York cavalry, who was in Rebel prisons for several months, spoke feelingly to the Sixth Reserves. O. H. Benson of Waverly asked for information as to whether General Reynolds or Colonel Madill bore the colors of the regiment at Chancellersville and inspired them to greater strength, and discussion on this point was made by C. F. Heverly, editor of the Bradford Star, L. W. Forrest of East Smithfield and Charles Stephens of Athens. Llewellyn Harris of Towanda said that, like Schley, he believed that was honor enough to go around.

The choir sang, "Long Wave Old Glory," and then James Bowman of Wilkesbarre gave a fine speech, one of the best of the afternoon. Mr. Bowman served in Company B of the Sixth Reserves and was imprisoned in Libby and other Rebel prisons. H. G. Blair made some fitting remarks on the work of the privates in the war. O. D. Goodenough who acted as chairman of the meeting in a masterly manner, then thanked the ladies of the church for their untiring efforts and the trustees for the use of the church. Diton Phelps of East Smithfield extended a cordial invitation to all the veterans to attend the reunion next year at East Smithfield. Some one made a remark that Mr.. Phelps was the marrying squire of Bradford county and Mr. Phelps said that if any of the veterans needed a helpmate he would tie the knot free and furnish the license.

The meeting closed by all singing "America" and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Houghton. The church was trimmed with flags and bunting. Watkins Post drum corps gave some much appreciated music.

Old Resident of Troy Dead.

Louis G. Winston, for forty years a respected resident of Troy, died quite suddenly Sept. 9 at his home in Canton street, aged 83 years, six months and 25 days. Mr. Winston was a native of Greene, Chenango county, and he married Julia Ann VanOstran, of that place, who died in 1902. A sister, Mrs. L. J. Wright, with whom he made his home, two daughters, Mrs. G. C. Van Patten, of Binghamton, and Mrs. Charles Manley, of Philadelphia, and one son, Newell Winston, of Philadelphia, survived. The funeral and burial took place on Sept. 12, the Rev. Hall officiating.

Three Men Killed.

Three young civil engineers, J. M. Rowe and J. R. Funk of Binghamton, and H. O. Biesecker of Lestershire, were killed near Cortland on Wednesday night of last week. They were returning from their work on a hand car but were overtaken by a work train. Neither those on the hand car nor those on the engine saw the others on account of a blinding sun. The young men were instantly killed and terribly mangled.

JOHN W. STORMS HAS WITHDRAWN AS CANDIDATE.

This Action Leaves W. G. Gordon Only Candidate for Prothonotary.

John W. Storms of South Waverly, Republican candidate for prothonotary, has withdrawn from the ticket, having issued the following letter on Monday:

To the Republican Voters of Bradford County:

"Gentlemen: — After a canvass of about two weeks in which I have visited a large number of the precincts of the county, I have decided to withdraw from the contest for nomination as Prothonotary. My reasons for so doing are that I have found a strong sentiment in favor of the nomination of my opponent W.. G.. Gordon, and I believe that the best interests of the party will be served if I and my friends recognize that sentiment.

I wish also at this time to thank my friends for the loyal support which they have given me and assure them that the ticket nominated will have my hearty support in November.

Very respectfully,
J OHN W. STORMS."

The Sayre Times, in commenting on the matter, says:

"Mr. Storms' withdrawal at this time is based on the belief that the best interests of the party will be subserved by his so doing. This end of the county, and particularly Sayre borough, would have returned a big majority for Mr. Storms as he has a large number of friends here who would have been glad to give him their support. On the other hand it was ascertained that Mr. Gordon was particularly strong in other sections of the county and had the contest been decided by the voters at the primaries no one would have been able to have foretold the result. The withdrawal of Mr. Storms, however, now sets the matter at rest and leaves Mr. Gordon unopposed for the nomination of prothonotary, a choice which will be acceptable to all members of the Republian party."

The Vegetable Peach.

William Maxfield of South Towanda, has brought to this office some samples of a new vegetable or fruit, known as the vegetable peach, which is new to this locality. It grows on a vine like a muskmelon, the fruit being the shape and color of an orange, with a skin like the melon and the growing from the seed in 80 days. It is considered by many an improvement over citron for preserves and sweet pickles.

Death at South Towanda.

Mary, wife of Berley Johnon, died at the home of her sister in South Towanda Tuesday morning at 6:30 o'clock. She was 28 years of age and leaves her husband and two children, besides three brothers and three sisters, and her father to mourn their loss. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the South Towanda church with interment at Cole's cemetery.

We would not try to raise turkeys on the farm unless we lived at least one-half mile from a neighbor.

There are lots of men just as greedy to hold their farm produce for still higher prices when prices are almost out of sight as when their stuff was selling below the cost of production.

Flesh food forms a good nutritious ration for the man who works hard with his hands, but the man of sedentary habits will enjoy much better health if he eats as little meat as possible.

There is a world of difference in the texture of meats. That of the old animal will always be fibrous and coarse, no matter how well the animal is fattened, while that of the young animal will be tender.

The second crop of clover, if cut for hay and not for seed, should be saved for the milk cow, the breeding ewes and sows. It is an excellent milk producing food and can be fed to the animals named to greater profit than to any others on the farm.

Where the milk cow is out getting her living in the stalk field and the hen is roosting in the cottonwood tree by the barn there the dairy and poultry business doesn't pay, and the mortgage on the place is quite likely to be sized up by the amount the owner can borrow on his land.

We give a constant reminder in these notes up to the middle of October to the effect that the seed corn for next year should be gathered, hung up and curing before that date. It is a good thing to test the seed corn, but it is a sure thing to pick the corn by that time and dry it properly, when every kernel will germinate next spring.

It is opportune just now to say a word about the fall planting of fruit trees. The word is, don't do it, at least north of the fortieth degree of latitude. If the trees are bought in the fall, it is better to heel them in and plant in the spring. Northern winters are apt to be very cold and dry and will, the tree having no hold in the soil, simply freeze and dry out every bit of sap before spring.

The cost of keeping the dairy cow a year in the eastern states is at least $10 more than it is in the west. The western dairyman has much cheaper hay, cheaper bran and pasture, and he gets the same freight rate for the shipment of his butter in Iowa that his competitor on a Vermont dairy farm does. The western dairyman has a snap is he chooses to avail himself of it, but so many dairymen have money in the bank that they say they will not milk cows.

The best fields of corn which we have seen this year are growing on the tile drained and heretofore almost worthless acres of the west. It promises a crop of seventy to eighty bushels to the acre. It will pay far better to drain your wet acres than to buy more land. One can afford to pay 10 per cent for the use of money if need be to do this work, and there is hardly a farm in the country where more or less tile drain cannot be put in as the best investment which can be made on the farm.

The plane of wages and living is at a high level in this country, higher by far than in any other country, and in these two things we are living entirely apart and distinct from all the rest of the world. The common, unskilled laborer, the digger of dirt, gets $1.75 to $2 for eight hours' work, the farm hand an equivalent of $40 per month, the railway brakeman $75, the engineer $150. The most poorly paid labor is that of the schoolteacher and the parson, and we have come to the time when the constructive trades and professions have in the matter of compensation run entirely away from the intellectual. This grade of wage and living which the people of this country enjoy will require no little care to maintain and may easily be upset by unwise legislation.

The modern refrigerating system has wonderfully simplified the handling of all perishable products. It has probably done more than any other one thing to give an added value to meats, butter, eggs and fruits and to secure a uniformity of price and supply. It has done more than this. It has given an added value to millions of acres of land upon which such perishable products can now be raised. Eggs, for instance, which only a few years ago glutted the April, May and June markets and which were almost unsalable, are now most eagerly sought by the cold storage men at a price which is very profitable to the producer, thereby making the poultry business a most profitable one for all the people. While cold storage and its ally, the refrigerator car, have made it possible to fasten upon the American people an arbitrary and burdensome meat trust, it still at the same time has so greatly enlarged the market for all other perishable products that we can far better endure the exactions of the beef trust than dispense with the cold storage system.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

A street carnival, a barbaric monstrosity which has been much in vogue these late years, is finding a formidable competitor in the modern Chautauqua, which combines in a healthy and elevating way the recreation, instruction and intellectual food which the average community needs. It is of interest to know that where conducted in a businesslike way they have nearly all paid out and in many cases have left a nice surplus to insure another Chautauqua next year.

We again wish to remark that where the Wealthy apple will do well it is the best flavored, most productive and best all round apple in America today.

The cement silo is here and is proving an unqualified success. It is cheap, it is durable and substantial, and will, we believe, prove to be the coming material for silo construction.

If a workingman with a family to support can manage to get hold of a good garden, a pig, a cow and twenty hens he has more than half solved the problem of a living for his family. This fact should receive more attention than it does as one way to get the poor man on his financial feet.

We are frequently asked when post timber should be cut to insure the greatest durability for the posts. The consensus of experience shows that post timber cut in July or August and thoroughly seasoned before being used will greatly outlast that cut during the winter and set in the ground the next spring.

If the second crop of clover is sufficiently fertilized so that each head will show an average of nine seeds it will pay to cut the crop for seed; otherwise it will not. The per cent of seed contained may be determined before the crop matures for seed and when it may be most profitably cut for hay should the fertilization prove imperfect.

Skim milk is one of the most valuable products of any farm. It is rich in protein content and the one thing which is needed by all the young things on the farm to make them grow lusty and strong. It never should be fed to matured animals if there are any young things—calves, pigs and colts—to feed it to. It is especially good food for laying hens and young chicks, and the ability to have plenty of skim milk on the farm is one of the justifications for keeping a dairy of cows.

England pays to Denmark $46,000,000 a year for the one item of butter, and the queer thing is that while we can sell the Danes a good share of the dairy rations used in the manufacture of this butter we are still unable to sell the Englishman the butter. Perhaps the time will come when we will adopt the same rigid system of inspection and manufacture employed by the Danes and as carefully study the tastes and notions of the English people as closely as they do, but it is not here yet.

Probably no phase of co-operative work among farmers has proved more successful than has the insurance business. Almost without exception the county mutual insurance company, confining its risks to farm property wherever found, is an entire success, affording a reliable class of insurance at a very low cost. The co-operative idea has also worked well with creameries and cheese factories and to some extent with grain buying and grain shipping concerns. The idea has not met with the same measure of success when applied to merchandising.

It is pretty well settled that the progeny of dairy herds will not make beef at a profit. It may be done in a few exceptional cases with the progeny of extra good milkers in the Shorthorn and Red Polled breeds, but very rarely indeed with that of any of the so called dairy breeds. And it will be found that the better the dairy herd the more worthless the calves will prove as feeders. The beef business and the butter business run in exactly opposite directions, always have and always will. In the one case the food goes into flesh and fat on the ribs; in the other into milk in the udder. Some beef bred cows will pay to milk, but their dairy performance is always secondary.

There is a great reluctance to adopt the wide tired wagon for heavy hauling on our dirt roads, and it grows largely out of the fact that men, as they run, have an ingrained dislike to contribute anything toward the improvement of the roads when their neighbors will not do their share. The general use of the drag and the wide tired wagon on all earth roads will revolutionize them and keep them for nine months in the year as fine as any asphalt pavement. We would favor a specific tax on the use of the narrow tired wagon, or, what would amount to the same thing, a tax exemption on all wide tired ones. The cities generally prohibit by ordinance the use of narrow tired wagons on the streets, and tires less than four inches in width are seldom seen.

A marvelous development of the country is going on in western Canada. Here is an empire of the most fertile soil on earth, specially fitted for the production of all our cereals, with the exception of corn. There are conditions of soil and climate in that country which assure the most perfect development of wheat, barley, oats and flax, insuring such a yield of these crops as even the palmiest days of the western United States have never equaled. The news is abroad and is verified that the first crop on these Canada lands will pay for the land and all costs of producing the crop. This opportunity has much to do with the evident loss of rural population in the central western states, for it is impossible to keep men out of a country where thirty bushels of No. 1 hard wheat can be raised to the acre and where the acre can be bought for $10 or $15.

THE RESTLESS SEA.

One of the bright boys who read these notes wants us to write something about the ocean, the wonderful waste of waters of which he has read, but has never seen. He has found out that the sea covers a large part of the face of the earth and has a history all its own. The ocean is many sided, its moods mysterious, its power almost immeasurable. One's first impression of it is that of its illimitable expanse, that sense of infinity of space which comes to us as we gaze at the stars in a blue black sky on a winter's night, a sense that here is something which neither the changing seasons nor the lapse and wear and tear of time can ever affect, and with it all an overpowering sense of the utter insignificance of man. It has a language of its own, an incomparable music, giving as it is touched by the zephyr or the tempest winds harmonies which run from the lullaby of a summer sea to the angry diapason of storm swept waters. Its restless bosom ever heaves even in the calmest weather, the crested waves as they break on quiet shores telling of storms and great winds which long since died away, the tireless swell being the stored energy of the winds of all latitudes. The murmur of the sea is music to all land dwellers, whether it be the monotonous roll of breakers on a lee shore or the crash of mountains of green water on beetling cliffs, and one born to the music and moods of the ocean is ever their slave, more so than is the Arab in love with the desert or the hoodlum with the slums of the great city. It possesses a wonderful color scheme—blue as the heavens of a June day when it smiles upon it, grim, gray and gloomy when shrouded with cloud rack and tempest, green of richest emerald as fair winds fleck its surface with whitecaps, black as night when it shrinks from the impact of the typhoon or the cyclone. It has, moreover, a wonderful life of its own, all the myriad life of the great deep—the bird life which on tireless wings ever circles the sea—the frigate bird, the albatross, Mother Carey's chickens and the uncounted millions of sea birds which live on it and in it and from it. And then the life of the water itself—the uncanny monsters of the deep, the fish in endless type, some in such vast schools as to be unbelievable. Then the shell life—the mollusk in infinite variety, with the walrus, the seal and their kind which are at home on both land and sea. Then there is the deep sea life—the queer things which live in the ever dark and fathomless abyss of the deep sea. While the land is most prolific of life, it is not more so than the sea. The harvest of the sea is as much a harvest as is the ingathering of the crops of the land. Millions of money and vast armies of men are associated with the fish harvest—the salmon of the Pacific, the cod of the Banks, the herring of the North sea, the seals of Newfoundland and Labrador and Alaskan peninsula and the oysters and lobsters of the Atlantic coast. For centuries the ocean separated the peoples of the earth, formed the dividing lines between nations, begat peculiar peoples and many tongues, but in these latter days man has mastered it, and now the high seas have become the world's great highway of commerce and communication. Every man and woman should see the ocean before they die, for not to have seen it in some of the phases referred to is to have missed the greatest sight in the whole world.

A "BROTHER TO THE OX."

As compared with the wage received by his class in all other countries the wage of the American laborer is on a high plane. The most common unskilled laborers—the diggers of dirt, the shovel brigade—are nowhere being paid less than $1.75 per day, many of them working only eight hours and many getting $2. While a few of the things which such a man will have to buy are slightly higher in this country than in other countries, he still is able with such a wage to have better food, better clothing and a better home than his fellow workmen in any country on earth, while his family is in every way better cared for and educated. A Bohemian not long from the fatherland has done a good many days' work for us. It is always $1.75 for each day, and yet this man tells us that he never earned to exceed 40 cents for the same class of work in Bohemia. Here he has meat three times a day at one-half the price in that country, his children are having the benefit of the public school, he lives in a comfortable home and not a hovel, he is constantly adding to his savings in the bank. Intellectually and physically the man is not very far removed himself from Markham's "brother to the ox," but the next generation will show a marked improvement, and a hundred years from now some great man's pedigree will run up against this crude ancestor who gladly and well did the dirty work of life in the dawn of the twentieth century for $1.75 per day.

BUMPS TO CHECK AUTOS.

Chicago Suburb's Novel Scheme to Make Chauffeurs Obey the Law.

The problem of regulating the speed of automobiles has been solved by Glencoe, a suburb of Chicago. It is simple. Just make the fast going machines "bump the bumps," and there you are, says a Chicago dispatch.

Glencoe does not put it in any such crude way. It is simply going to "improve" Sheridan road, but this "improvement" is to consist of a six inch bump at every crossing, and the motorist who attempts to "take the jumps" at high speed will be punished, the Glencoe village board believes, more than by any fine which could be imposed.

Work on the bumps was begun a few days ago. They will be made of brick, and will be six inches high at the highest point. On each side will be a sharp slope that will make it easy for the cars to get over, provided they are running at a moderate speed, but which will have a tendency to shoot the occupants some feet into the air if taken at high speed.

THE MORELL CASE.

Brown Not Arraigned as Expected. Investigations Continue.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 19.—Contrary to expectation, John Brown of New York, the hostler who was arrested on suspicion of being the man who shot Mrs. C. W. Morell after breaking into her residence in Greenwich on Sept. 12, was not brought into the superior court. Burglary and assault with intent to kill are the charges against Brown.

The authorities several days ago announced their intention to take the prisoner into court on a bench warrant, but State Attorney Samuel Fessenden declared it unlikely that Brown would be arraigned before a fortnight. The county officers have not finished their investigation, and it is understood that the recent discovery of new clews pointing to others than Brown as concerned in the break led to the decision not to arraign him.

State Attorney Fessenden said in an interview: "I cannot tell when Brown's case will be taken up. So far as I know no effort has been taken to secure bail for his release pending trial, and consequently I know of no reason for bringing him into court. I do not know anything about the affair except what I have read in the newspapers, but I do not think the case will be ready for two or possibly three weeks."

TENTS CRUSH CROWDS.

Storm Hits Circus, Causing Panic, In Which Many Are Hurt.

Maryville, Mo., Sept. 19.—Three persons are dying, it is believed, and more than a score were seriously injured when the tents of the Ringling Brothers' circus were blown down in the midst of a performance.

Five thousand persons were gathered in the main tent when the storm broke. Panic followed the collapse of the big tent. Great poles and whole rows of seats came crashing to the ground, bearing spectators—men, women and children—beneath them. Cries of the injured and the shrieks of the terror stricken mingled with the roar of lions, the trumpeting of elephants, and the cries of rage and terror of other wild animals.

Twenty cages were overturned in the midst of the crowd. The heavy wet canvas buried all for some minutes and rendered the work of rescue difficult.

The more seriously injured, caught under the center poles of the main tent, are Charles Robison, twenty-six years old, skull fractured; Miss Georgie Robison of Gravity, concussion of the brain, and Edward Booth, farmer, Maryville, back broken.

FEVER SITUATION.

Some Improvement In New Orleans Notwithstanding Wet Weather.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 19.—The fever situation indicates some improvement, notwithstanding the warm, wet weather. In several centers of the city where the fever heretofore prevailed it has disappeared, and nests of infection are scarce.

One positive and one suspicious case of yellow fever has been found on the government boats at Kemps Bend, in northern Louisiana, the infection being traceable to New Orleans.

The fever fighters at Lake Providence are under a great strain, owing to the great number of cases, and Dr. Bernard has wired the state board specially commending Miss Edens, who remained on duty fifty hours at a stretch with four cases, one of them having black vomit. Among the cases at Tallulah is Miss Miner, who went there as a nurse. Baton Rouge has developed only a single case, but Dr. Corput of the marine hospital service says it is typical.

General W. J. Behan, president of the Louisiana immigration mission, composed of planters, is holding conferences with Dr. White with a view to sending immigrants to the sugar fields. Dr. White will aid the planters, provided the immigrants are carried through the city in screened cars, which plan it is intended to follow.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Towanda Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kdney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy, or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Towanda testimony:

W. H. Westbrook, a farmer lving near Wysox, four miles from Towanda on rural route No. 4, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me. I used them about six years ago and they brought me undoubted benefit. I had been troubled a good deal with backache previous to that time and had doctored and used various remedies but received no permanent relief. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and took them acording to dretons. They gave me so much relief that I kept on taking them until I had used three boxes when the pains had entirely disappeared. We since gave them to one of our children who was troubled with a weakness of the kidneys. They also proved satismactory in the case of the child. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best kidney medicine we ever used."

Mrs. Virgina Henry Beasley aged 89 years, a granddaughter of Patrick Henry, died Sept. 10 in the state hospital at Willard, where she had been a patient for the past few months.

The Grand Army of the Republic reports a diminution of membership of of 14,885 during the last year. But the order is still vigorous and flourishing, and will long remain so. It has now 232,455 names on its muster rolls—forty years after the war.

The Chicago Record-Herald is authority for the statement that since January 1 the automobile has been responsible for the death of 42 and the injury of 343 persons in 12 cities of the United States and that in each instance excessive speed was the cause of the accident.

County Superintendent of Schools Herbert S. Putnam has arranged an excellent program for the annual teachers' institute to be held here in October. Every teacher in Bradford county should attend this gathering. At the beginning of the school work the instruction received here will be a stimulus which will last all the year.

The Taggart divorce case at Wooster, Ohio, has attracted wide attention. The features of the trial are the presence of much evidence of drunkenness on the part of both husband and wife. When a family gets into the notion that they have to hit the booze in order to be fashionable it is time to put the children in an orphan asylum or one for children of imbecile parents.

No clergyman owning obedience to the Church of England in Canada can hereafter solemnize marriage between a divorced person and another so long as the other party to the divorce is living. This was the decision reached recently by the General Synod of the Dominion of Canada, representing every diocese and part of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the American boundary to the Artic Ocean.

That political buccaneer and financier, J. Edward Addicks, since he cannot get himself elected a United States senator from Delaware on the Republican ticket, has decided that no other Republican shall be elected. He will therefore welcome a return of that state to the Democratic column and will make whatever terms he can for a slice of the patronage. No matter what happens J. Edward will give a run for the money.

Congressman Fred Landis of Indiana was chatting with a friend at a street corner in Washington when a man came along, and, ignoring the congressman's nod, passed by with his nose in the air. "Odd thing how that fellow worries over trifles," said Landis. "Would you believe it; he actually refuses to notice me because in a political speech last fall I said he was so crooked you couldn't back him into a roundhouse? Now, what do you think of that?"

Four years ago M. Witte, the finance minister, was the agent through whom the Czar, in defense of the Russian sugar system, dealt a heavy blow at America's mounting trade with the empire. Now, as peace envoy, he is the medium through whom the Czar announces that he "has been pleased to order the discontinuance of the levying of higher duties on American products in order that henceforth American manufacturers should pay the same duties as importers from other countries."—New York Mail.

From the tenor of the town meetings held in Philadelphia on Saturday night it looks as though the people of that city were not one bit less angry at the men who have been plundering the treasury by contracts let at exorbitant prices and voting themselves into power by thousands of phantom votes than they were some months ago. Mayor Weaver declares that no city employe on the civil service need pay a cent for political assessments. He says that the police need not be political workers. Philadelphia is determined to be clean. If the determination keeps up the old Quaker City will be clean and decent.

AGAINST ALCOHOL MEDICINES.

The commissioner of internal revenue at Washington has rendered a decision that will seriously affect a number of patent medicines composed largely of distilled liquors. He has reversed a ruling of his department, made many years ago, and now decides that the manufacturers of these medicines must take out licenses as rectifiers and liquor dealers, and that druggists and dealers handling them will have to pay the regular dealer's license. The commissioner in a letter of instructions to collectors of internal revenue, says that there are compounds on the market going under the names of medicines that are composed largely of distilled spirits, with addition of drugs or medicines in insufficient quantities to change materially the character of the whiskey.

He authorizes collectors to impose the special tax upon manufacturers of every compound composed of distilled spirits, even though drugs are declared to have been added thereto, "when the presence is not discoverable by chemical analysis or if found that the quantity of drugs in the preparation is so small as to have no appreciable effect on the liquor."

"The same ruling," declares the Commissioner, "applies to every alcoholic compound labeled as a remedy for diseases and containing, in addition to distilled spirits, only substances or ingredients which, however large their quantity are not of a character to impart any medicinal quality to the compound."

To prevent injustice being done, the ruling will not be put into effect until December 1, 1905, but collectors are at once instructed to send out notices to all druggists and merchants dealing in proprietary medicines that after December 1, they will be required to pay the special tax as liquor dealers for selling compounds coming within the rule.

While no statement is made by the Commissioner as to the medicines that will be affected, it is believed that the decision reaches several prominent and highly advertised medicines.

In some instances these medicines have been found to contain as high as forty-five per cent. of alcohol and there are many on the market that contain twenty-five per cent. of alcohol. These medicnes are said to have immense sales in prohibition communities, figures, collected in Massachusetts recently showing, it is stated, that one such advertised compound with a high percentage of whiskey had been bought to the extent of 3,000 bottles in one year in prohibition communities of one New England State.

The withdrawal of John W. Storms of South Waverly as a candidate for prothonotary on the Republican ticket, leaves Willis G. Gordon of Towanda the only nominee to come before the special Republican primaries on Sept. 30. This gives Mr. Gordon the nomination without a contest and while it removes the interest that there would have been there will be excellent feeling that the matter has turned out as it has.

The amicable settlement of this contest will be welcomed by a majority of the friends of both candidates. It will unify the party and give strength to the whole ticket. Mr. Storms' frank and manly letter of withdrawal will be a potent factor in bringing about the result and in writing it he has rendered his party a service which it cannot forget.

Mr. Gordon's claim to the nomination were too great to be denied. Not only had he demonstrated that he had a strong following among the voters, but his fitness for the office was generally recognized. He has the training and experience that supply him for its duties and to them he will give his undivided attention. The party is to be congratulated on so satisfactory an ending to a situation which at one time promised to stir up a good deal of hard feeling.

If there were any Democrats in Bradford county who believed that the Republicans would get into a snarl over the nomination of a candidate for prothonotary they will be disappointed. The withdrawal of Mr. Storms leaves but one candidate in the field and to him the nomination will now go because it has been demonstrated that he is the choice of the party. Mr. Gordon will be nominated in the convention without opposition and the committee appointed by the Democratic convention to complete its half made ticket can now get together and finish its job. Who will be put on the Democratic ticket is of very little consequence to anybody, for the whole ticket will be snowed under on election day by the usual Republican majority.

Some very smart men are just now being heard from, one of whom has discovered errors in the translation of the Lord's prayer. Dr. McCourt, a New York medical practitioner, says that "Give us this day our daily bread" is an unhappy blunder. For "daily," he says we should read supersubstantial, to signify sustenance for spirit and body. "Lead us not into temptation" he declares should read, "Bring us not into probation," or "bring us not into trial," or "judge us not severely for our faults."

AN OLD FAKE.

It hardly seems necessary in this enlightened age to give warning against that most venerable fake the fortune teller, yet there are enough gullible people who apparently believe in the claims of these charlatans to make pertinent the following remarks of the Williamsport Sun:

Fortune telling as practiced in modern times is a fraud of the first water. The "madam" or "professor" who pretends to tell your past and reveal the future knows no more about you than does the man who hauls your garbage or the woman who does your washing. The "past" these humbugs tell is made up from information of the victim gleaned from an interview with one of his family or the next door neighbor or by an agent of the fortune teller, sent out for that purpose. The future they reveal could be as readily foretold by any person who possesses a fertile imagination and is colored to suit the purse of the customer.

One of these fortune tellers has been sent to jail in Lancaster, her excuse for indulging in the lucrative pastme being that it was "an easy way to make a living." Certainly. This city has been visited by fortune tellers of every description in years past. Some of these were harmless and were content to reap a harvest of fifty cent pieces, but some of them concocted stories of hidden fortunes which they whispered into the ears of willing victims and for which "good fortunes" large sums of money have been paid. And none of the unsophisticated patrons have as yet reported the finding of the imaginary lost money.

But swindling innocent people out of a few hundred dollars in return for the disclosure of the hiding places of fabulous wealth is not nearly as harmful as the practice some unscrupulous fortune tellers have of gaining sums of money from women in payment for statements of the infidelity of their husbands. This is a common trick among those soothsayers who have no regard for the injury they do, and the damage that has been done in this cannot be estimated. Of course the fortune tellers know nothing about the husbands, but they grow rich by pandering to the susceptibilities of jealous wives.

LITTLE SERMONS.

It's no trouble to find short cuts to no end of trouble.

The noble life asks for more service instead of more servants.

No man can build his own reputation out of the ruins of another's.

You cannot get into green pastures while you herd with goats.

Straight dealings are the best evidences of being in the narrow way.

It will take more than chicken piety to save this world from sin.

The man who is always in the way thinks he is in the only way.

Riches are roots of evil only to the man who has failed to raise any.

True spirituality is the ability to see the altar in the washtub and the cook stove.

Small souls always think they have the whole of religion when they get one thread from its many colored garment.—Henry F. Cope.

Max O'Rell, the French humorist, interviewed, has just described the perfect wife as follows: "Marry a woman smaller than yourself. Do not marry a woman whose laugh is forced and does not come from the heart, but marry a woman who enjoys a joke and looks on the bright side of everything. Marry a girl who is a bit of a philosopher. If you take a girl to the theater, and on hearing there are no seats in the stalls or circle, she gayly exclaims, 'Never mind, let us go into the gallery,' marry her. It will be easy to live with a girl willing to sit on back seats with her husband. Do not marry a girl who has the fast ways of what is called smart society."

The September assessment of voters in Philadelphia has resulted in the cutting off of some 36,000 names in comparison with the May assessment. The former Republican organization in the Quaker city accounts for many of these by the explanation that many names which have been taken off are of persons who have been out of the city for the summer. The reform elementalleges that in the list of those cut off are names of dead men, "phantoms," children and unnaturalized foreigners.

The whirligig of time brings queer conditions. When Gen. Beaver first ran for governor of Pennsylvania, he was defeated because Judge John Steward ran for governor on the Independent Republican ticket. This year Beaver is a nominee for the Superior court judgeship and on the same ticket Steward gets the nomination for Supreme court unsought, with an indorsement from the Democrats.

A DEGENERATE PARTY.

The action of the Democratic party in nominating a part of its ticket and delegating the selection of the rest of it to a committee to complete it work after the Republicans had made up their ticket, well illustrates the demoralized condition of the Democratic party in Bradford county. It follows, never leads. It waits to see what its opponents will do before doing anything itself, and its chief purpose appears to be to oppose everything proposed by the Republicans. It never takes the initiative.

In pursuing this method, the Democratic party in Bradford county is but imitating its National prototype, and both are reaping the whirlwind of this policy. Once a courageous and ably led opposition, and a spur to make the majority side do its best work, it now lacks everyone of these attributes. From its high estate as a party of conviction and principle, it has degenerated into a mere party of negation and expendiency. Nor yet has it leadership that could lead. Not one of the 7,500,000 Republicans in the United States cares what any Democrat says or thinks on any issue now before the people. Not one of the 5,000,000 Democrats is suggesting any programe which has the faintest chance of getting the sanction of the majority of his side. In the politics of the day, the Democracy is not even the negation that it was in 1861 to 1873. It is a cipher. Thurman, Hendricks, Bayard, Pendleton, Bill Allen, Ben Hill, Lamar and the rest of the Democratic giants of a generation ago are dead, and they left no successors. All they could, by the stretching of the dictionary definitions, stand for ability and courage in the present Democracy, is in its Southern end, but a Southern Democrat who would put himself forward for one of politics, big prizes in these times would get as little quarter in a Democratic National convention as one of Cromwell's Roundheads would have at the Court of Charles II. Here are the reasons why both the Republicans and Democrats in 1905 ignore the Democratic party.

The anthracite coal trust is said to have over 7,000,000 tons of coal stored away to meet the demands of the threatened strike and it is estimated that this amount may be doubled by next spring. While John Mitchell, president of the United Mine workers, is thought not to wish a strike there is no telling what the miners may vote. The trust proposes to take time by the forelock. If a strike comes and the price of coal would be advanced to the consumer, the trust could not only not lose money by the strike but make millions out of the advance.

An editorial in the Altoona "Tribune-Republican," in reply to an editorial in the "Times," has stirred up much feeling among Lincoln party followers in Blair county because of the language used in referring to Henry C. Niles, of York. The editorial says: "The Altoona 'Times' is perfectly well aware that the only proper reply to the insolent letter to which Henry C. Niles signed his name would be a cowhide. Mr. Plummer is not obliged to take notices of the impudent questions of every notoriety-seeking cur who snarls at his heels on the public highway."

With the opening Saturday of nine new routes, Lancaster county has now 95 rural free delivery routes in operation, the largest number in any one county in the country. Practically every house in the county not near a post office is now supplied by rural carriers. The 95 carriers travel about 2,375 miles every day, and their salaries for a year will amount to $68,000. The routes are started from forty-three different postoffices.

The changes recommended by the national encampment G. A. R. in the pension laws will provide for a pension of $12 per month for every soldier who served 90 days or more, without proving that his disabilities were of service origin, when they arrive at the age of 62 years, and a like amount to the widows who married the soldiers prior to June 27, 1890.

DARING BURGLAR.

Frank E. Morris, Formerly of Towanda, Robbed at Pittston.

A daring burglar operated Friday in the Sinclair hotel on North Main street and stole $146 from the room of the proprietor, F. E. Morris, while the latter was asleep. Mr. Morris was up all Thursday night and as a result was asleep in his room about 10 o'clock in the morning. The burglar first entered the parlor, which had been left unlocked and then made his way into Mr. Morris' room, the door of which had also been left unlocked. In one of the pockets of Mr. Morris' trousers he found the money, which he quickly took away. He took a watch out of another pocket but decided not to take it with him. As the stranger was leaving the parlor he was seen by a daughter of Mr. Morris but the latter thought he was one of the boarders and paid no attention to him. He was also seen by one of the domestics.

A short time after he had left the hotel the theft was discovered and the police department notified. A search was made for the man but he had probably left the city. Police of neighboring cities have been given a description of him and requested to keep a short lookout for him. Miss Morris is certain she could identify the man if she should see him again. —Pittston Gazette.

HARD LUCK AT TROY.

Towanda Lost Friday's Ball Game Five to Two.

Towanda went to the Troy fair Friday with the intention of winning the warmest base ball game played in the county this season. To turn the trick they took along pretty nearly the entire Wilkes-Barre league team and "Buck" Ramsey of Binghamton, to pitch. A big crowd of backers went along to see the fun and place a few simoleons on the issue. Troy was bet to a stand still two to one, and then—

Score—Troy 5, Towanda 2.

Leary of Harrisburg, pitched for Troy, and he delivered the goods. That night he could have had the borough of Troy for the asking, and it would have been tied up with blue ribbon in the bargain.

At the beginning of the game Towanda was ahead and had two scores to one, but Troy gradually crept up, tied it, went one better and added a couple for good measure. As one Troy man remarked, it partly made up for the time some years ago when Troy came down, leaving a lot of imported players at Burlington, placed their money on the strength of the players in sight and then after bringing their reserves into action lost the game and a good bunch of money.

While the Iron Is Hot.

Side by side with the accounts of the elevated railroad wreck in recent New York newspapers appeared in sutable display the advertisement of an accident insurance company which indemnifies the injured survivors and the heirs of victims killed in such disasters. This is striking while the iron is hot.

The link advertising with the news is not always feasible, but similar opportunities occur from time to time in the experience of every believer in publicity. They are worth watching for.

To invest an ad. with a news value wonderfully enhances its effectiveness.—Philadelphia Record.

Passed Navy Examination.

Dr. Charles Reed of Wysox, received a telegram on Friday stating that his son, Dr. Edward U. Reed, had successfully passed the naval examination at Washington. This gives Dr. Edward Reed the rank of second lieutenant and assistant surgeon in the navy. The examinations last for nine days and are rigid. Dr. Reed will be assigned to duty on Oct. 1. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania last June after a highly successful course in medicine. He is a fine scholar and his many friends will congratulate him on his success in passing the late naval tests.

Attempted Burglary.

While Warren Mingos was going up Main street at about 11:30 o'clock on Saturday evening he heard a crash of glass and then saw two men running from in front of the Little grocery down Main street and up Lombard. This is the place conducted of late by W. S. Beck but no one occupies the store at the present time. There are some goods in the place which are to be sold for rent today.

Big Auto Balked.

CIRCUS AFTERMATH.

Seven Became Drunk Enough to Get Run in the Lockup.

Robbins' show left Towanda Wednesday night after giving two successful and well attended performances. The police reported that the show hands were well behaved and orderly despite their hard looks. Robbins' show has had a hard siege for the last two weeks. They were badly flooded at Norwich and have been pursued by bad weather ever since. Press Agent John L. Glennan is a gentlemanly fellow and makes a good impression for the shows wherever he goes.

There were many drunks on the streets Wednesday afternoon and evening, and seven of them were so much so that they had to be taken care of by the police. Four of these went to jail yesterday as: follows Rob Anthony of Athens, Harry Miller and William Fleschutt of Towanda, and a hobo by the name of Huntley who had just gotten out from a 15 day sentence for vagrancy.

Andrew Johnson, a son of Trecy Johnson, lives in the Red Row on South Main street and knows a thing or two. Andrew gave a quarter to one of the ticket agents at the circus and the man refused to give the young man a ticket. Andrew swore out a warrant before Justice Meredith and Constable McCracken went after the crooked ticket man. When the officer told him what he wanted the ticket seller forked over the quarter and paid the costs at once. The charge has now been withdrawn by Johnson.

THE TOBACCO CROP.

Larger nd Finer Than Last Year—Elmirans Heavy Buyers—Prices.

The present 1905 crop of tobacco in what is known as the Big Flats district is cut and in the shed. This district includes Tioga Chemung, Tompkins and Steuben counties in New York, and Bradford and Tioga counties in Pennsylvania. The crop this year is considerably larger and finer than that of last year, the leaves being much broader.

It is estimated that this year's crop will make about 16,000 cases, against 14,000 last year. The price paid is from 11c to 13c per pound in bundle, which is an average of two cents a pound more than the previous year.

About half of the entire crop has been bought. The principal buyers were Farnham & Reynolds of Addison, G. Falk Bros. and Joseph Gans & Co., of New York, W. H. Relyea & Co., Wood, Clute & Way, Goff & Mathews, John Brand, William Lovell & Co. of this city, and Morris Rosenberg of Philadelphia.—Elmira Advertiser.

A Good Record.

Colonel William B. Shaw and wife of Washington, D. C., have been stopping the past week at Lake Wesauking. For years Mr. Shaw always came in September to William A. Chamberlin's—he being a brother of Mrs. Chamberlin—but death has robbed him of that pleasure. Colonel Shaw is one of the oldest newspaper men in the country and in excellent health. He tells us he never took a drink of whisky or smoked a cigar, which is quite remarkable for a man who is around among the official class as much as he has been.—Bradford Argus.

Celebrated Birthday.

At the home of P. L. Cummings, 27 Pratt avenue, on Thursday evening occurred a very pleasant gathering upon the occasion of Mrs. Cummings's birthday. She was the recipient of numerous useful and beautiful presents. Many friends from out of town were present, among them Mrs. Moran and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick of Elmira. An elegant dinner was served at 6 o'clock after which games were indulged in until a late hour.

Entered Bucknell.

Frank Olendorf and Manley Tolbert, who played with the Athens High School team last year, have entered Bucknell university and will try for the football eleven there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyon were married at Carthage, N. Y., by Rev. C. M. Dodge June 22, 1904. They separated May 31, 1905. No children were born to them. A divorce was granted the wife for cruel and barbarous treatment on the part of the husband. This is not a former Towanda couple by the same name.

They lived together until Oct. 1, 1904 and seven children were born to them, of whom six are living. ITALIAN LABORER KILLED.

Struck By an Engine in the Yards at Sayre.

Domiano Filli, an Italian laborer, single, 24 years old, was struck by an engine that was running backward near the round house at Sayre on Tuesday night of last week, and fatally injured. One leg was severed from his body and the other thigh was badly crushed and mangled.

He was taken to the hospital, where he died about four hours later from shock and loss of blood in spite of all that surgical science could do for him.

The Mystifying Kellar.

Kellar, the magician, played to a crowded capacity on Saturday night at Hale's Opera House and the great mystifier was just as mystifying as ever. The star performance of the evening was "The Levitation of Princess Karnac," in which the rigid body of a young woman is horizontally suspended in the air without any apparent physical or material support. A hoop is passed over and around the body to show that no wires or other invisible means are employed to suspend the body. The exhibition of mental telegraphy was a remarkable performance. Kellar was assisted by Herr Valadon, a sleight of hand performer, who was well received. The program was much the same as given the last time Kellar was here. Mrs. Frank Wood of Towanda was at the piano during the evening.

Wasn't Myers, of Course.

A man arrested at Cross Fork last week was thought to be Myers, wanted for the murder of Mrs. Payne at Jackson Summit. The Tioga county authorities sent Murray Mase, of Liberty, to identify him. Mase made the trip and says the suspect was not the man wanted but resembled him more than ninety and nine that he had been sent to see. Seymour Whitney, of East Charleston, who was traveling through the Cross Fork region saw the man and had a talk with him. His startling resemblance to Myers and the man's actions and manner aroused his suspicions. The arrest followed. The victim was little concerned about being taken into custody. He never even asked why he was arrested. After his discharge he returned to the woods to work.—Advocate.

DALTON VERDICT CONFIRMED.

Judge Cameron Directs Judgment Entered for the Plaintiff.

Judge Cameron of Wellsboro, who presided at the third trial of the suit of James Dalton vs. The Borough of Towanda, has handed down an opinion directing that judgment be entered for thep laintiff on the verdict. At the trial Judge Cameron reserved a question of law and the defendant borough, through its attorneys, asked for a judment non obstante veredicto —notwithstanding the verdict.

The injuries sustained by Mr.. Dalton, and for which the jury gave him a verdict of $2,000, were sustained on the morning of Sept. 17, 1904, when he entered the Cash Creek culvert near the Frost factory with a torch to make an examination of the ten-inch sewer pipe that is laid in the bottom of the culvert. At a point where the dust from the factory is discharged by a blower in the culvert there was an explosion and Mr. Dalton was burned, his severest injuries being about the face and hands. The case was tried three times, twice before Judge Fanning and once before Judge Cameron. At the first trial a nonsuit was granted in so far as Frost's Sons were concerned; at the second trial a non-suit was granted, but the case was returned to the calendar and Judge Cameron secured to hear it.

GAME IS PLENTIFUL.

Excepting Quail—Hawks Cause Ravages Among Coveys.

Official reports to the state game commission show that all kinds of game, except quail, will be plentiful throughout the state this fall. Grouse rabbits, turkeys, and deer especially abound.

Reports about quail are far better than Mr. Kalbfus expected. Hawks have worked a great deal of damage and the conveys are few and the number of birds in each is small.

Dr. Kalbfus expects to see an increase in the quail before many years. Sportsmen all over the state are taking a great interest in preserving this bird, and many coveys are trapped every winter and kept housed and fed until spring. This is permitted by law, and in a circular which Dr. Kalbfus issued last spring he urged that it be done wherever possible.

FIRST KILLING FROSTS.

Dates to Be Remembered by the Farmers—Ten Years' Figures.

Every successful farmer understands the importance of knowing the average date of the first killing frost in this region and acting accordingly in caring for his late crops. According to the records kept by Voluntary Weather Observer Bull at his station at East Towanda, the dates of the first killing frosts for this locality in the past ten years have been as follows:

1895, Sept. 16; 1896, Sept. 24, 1897, Oct. 4; 1898, Oct. 28; 1899, Oct. 2; 1900, Oct. 18; 1901, Oct. 7; 1902, Oct. 22; 1903, Oct. 25; 1904, Sept. 22.

It will be wise according to the figures of the above report to make provision for the annual visit of Jack Frost on and after Sept. 15 in this locality.

Minister Ordained.

The ordination and installation of Rev. Will A. Kelley as minister of the Church of Universal brotherhood was held in the church in Athens on Tuesday evening of last week. The clergymen who took part in the services were Rev. Clinton A. Moulton of Troy, Rev. L. T. Drury of Brooklyn, Rev. Herbert H. Graves of Towanda, Rev. James D. Tillinghast of Titusville, and Rev. W. H. Sawtelle of Athens. The last mentioned delivered the welcome to the city and H. F. Johnson, chairman of the board of trustees, responded for the parish. Rev. Mr. Graves extended the right hand of fellowship to the new pastor and delivered the charge to the parish.

Mrs. Joanna McDonald, who has been spending the past two years at Alameda, Cal., with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kirby, returned to Towanda on Sunday. In the "Land of Sunshine," she reports, Mr. Kirby, who will be 90 years old in December, as being one of the most active men on the coast. Still spry of foot, reads without glasses, has the mental vigor of a man in his prime and attends to his business matters as usual. During the Summer his special delight has been growing a garden of Hubbard squashes, which he is now distributing among his neighbors.—Bradford Star.

Elkins Paper Writes Entertainly of General Hill.

General J. A. Hill of Towanda, Pa., a distinguished veteran of the Civil War, who winning his stars by bravery in action and on the field has since added new laurels in the industrial world, was the distinguished guest of his son, George Hill, of the firm of Brown & Hill, at the hotel Randolph last week. An empty sleeve bears eloquent testimony to the General's part in that long hard struggle, and years have not robbed this venerable gentleman of his distinguished appearance. He led a Massachusetts regiment when the war began and had risen to the rank of General before its close.

General Hill was for many years the leading spirit in the firm of Proctor & Hill, who for many years were the most extensive manufacturers of leather in the country, Gen Hill being associated in the business with Col. Tom Proctor.—Elkins, W. Va., Enterprise.

OPENED A TELEGRAM.

It Put a Curious Gent on the Track of the Man He Wanted.

Charles Yanofski, a dealer in junk and tinware of Towanda, made complaint before Justice Orcutt recently that one, Harry Friedman, had decamped with a wagon and stock of goods belonging to Yanofski. He learned that Friedman had tried to sell the goods at Corning. This week a telegram came here for Friedman's brother. Yanofski opened it and by so doing found out that it was from the man he wanted and gave his address.

Officer Hollon was put on the case and telephoned the Corning police to have Friedman wait for a dispatch from his brother here. Hollon and Yanofski went to Corning and the capture of Friedman was easy. He gave up the goods and Yanofski went his bail on the charge of grand larceny.

Number Rural Boxes.

Orders are being sent out by the post office department at Washington concerning the numbering of rural mail boxes. The delivery of mail of all classes addressed to such boxes by number is authorized as long as improper and unlawful business is not conducted. After a route has been in operation for 60 days, the carriers are to make a list of all the persons in the route having an approved, weather-proof box. A number will be given to each of these boxes, beginning with No. 1, at the box nearest to the office from which the route starts. Besides approved boxes, non approved boxes erected prior to Oct. 1, 1902, will be given numbers.

THE CHASE MYSTERY

Body Will Be Exhumed and Autopsy Performed.

STATE POLICE INVESTIGATE

The District Attorney of Massachusetts Receives Information Which Induces Him to Take Personal Charge of Inquiry—Statement by Chase.

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 19.—In response to public opinion, District Attorney W. Scott Peters ordered that an autopsy be held on the body of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, the wealthy Swampscott woman who died last week under unusual circumstances of gas poisoning. Medical Examiner J. G. Pinkham, who was also the Chase family physician, later directed that the body be exhumed. Dr. Pinkham, who attended the woman after she was found unconscious, apparently from inhaling gas, decided the case one of suicide and ruled that an autopsy was needless. Mrs. Chase's body was buried Saturday and the investigation was discontinued, only to be reopened suddenly. Although public opinion favoring a complete investigation has been strong it is understood that circumstances that have recently come to light in the case influenced the district attorney's action.

Statement by Chase.

Dr. Horace Chase, husband of the woman, in a public statement declared that he did not notice the disappearance of his wife from their bedroom on the night of Sept. 9. Upon searching for her early next morning he found her lying insensible on the kitchen floor with the doors locked, the gas cocks turned on and her pet bird and dog dead beside her. Referring to the large estate which his wife owned, Dr. Chase said that in 1900 Mrs. Chase made a will in which she provided both for himself and for his son, who is now dangerously ill.

Deputy George C. Neal of the state police became actively interested in the investigation of the circumstances of the woman's death. He conferred with District Attorney Peters and laid before him such evidence as he had been able to gather from interviews with the Swampscott police and private persons who have become interested in the case.

As a result of the conference District Attorney Peters decided to come to Lynn and confer with Medical Examiner Pinkham with reference to holding an autopsy. He regards the information laid before him so important that he should give the case his personal attention.

The police place some significance on the discovery that although the alleged farewell letter found in the kitchen with Mrs. Chase's body was written in ink, no similar writing material has been found in the house.

Want Autopsy Performed.

Depufy Neal had interviews with Chief of Police Harris, Judge John W. Berry, Medical Examiner Pinkham and others. Chief Harris declared an autopsy should be performed, although he had not changed his opinion that the case was one of suicide. Judge Berry believed public interest would be best served if an autopsy were held, while Medical Examiner Pinkham remained firm in the opinion that Mrs. Chase committed suicide.

It is said an autopsy may not be of any value at this time, as any drugs that may have been in the woman's system would not now be revealed. It is argued that if the woman went to sleep from taking chloral and was then poisoned by gas the autopsy revealing the official facts reported by the medical examiner would not contribute to determining whether the tragedy was her own act or that of some one else.

Officials believe that regardless of what an autopsy might show or fail to show an inquest should be held and the mystery of the case judicially probed.

Shoppers Attacked by Lion.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The escape of a pet lion and its attack on several shoppers in a dry goods store in Court street caused a panic and resulted in the arrest of the animal and her master. The animal belongs to Sherman Danby of New York and was led by him. The people attacked were not severely injured, and Danby was warned to muzzle the animal.

General Wistar Dead.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—General Isaac J. Wistar of this city, philanthropist and scientist, died at his summer home, Claymont, Del., after an illness of one day. He was seventy-eight years old General Wistar was for a number of years vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and head of that corporation's coal and canal companies. He retired in 1903.

Three Children Smothered to Death.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 14.—Otto Sarge, aged fifteen; Esther Sarge, aged nine, and Fritz Strate, aged nine, of New Kensington, Pa., were smothered to death by the caving of a sand bank in which they were playing. Their bodies were not discovered for several hours after the accident is supposed to have occurred.

Poisoned by Toadstools.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 15.—Lewis Crocker, a farmer of Greentown, near here, his wife and four children were poisoned by eating toadstools which were among mushrooms gathered by Crocker. One child is dead, and two others cannot live. The parents and the remaining child have recovered.

ODD FELLOWS MEET.

Eighty-first Annual Communication of Sovereign Grand Lodge Opens.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—Disagreeable weather conditions marked the formal opening of the eighty-first annual communication of the sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. A fine rain was falling, and the atmosphere was warm and humid. The initial exercises were held in Lulu temple, which was entirely inadequate to accommodate the crowds. Every jurisdiction of the order in the United States was represented at the conclave.

The report of Grand Sire Wright shows the total subordinate lodge membership to be 1,217,145; encampment membership, 177,839; Rebekah membership, 474,059; number of subordinate lodges, 14,315; expenditures for relief, $4,633,649; total revenue, $13,638,791; total resources, $37,645,071.

Continuing, the report states: The increase in membership of our subordinate lodges was 65,724; in the encampment branch, 9,990; in the Rebekah branch, 26,391, making a total increase of 102,105. The Patriarch Militant will show a decrease in membership, but that decrease is only nominal and doubtless results from a clearing out of names that really did not represent active members of that branch. The increase in receipts for the year was $751,077, the increase in resources $2,974,951 and the increase in relief $307,139.

The militant branch alone in our organization fails to show substantial progress. There has been a loss in membership during the year of a little over 300. This condition of affairs, in my judgment, demands immediate attention and perhaps radical measures.

ROYAL ARCANUM FIGHT.

Secession and a New Order if the Hated Rates Stand.

New York, Sept. 17.—A special mass meeting of a general committee representing the subordinate councils of the Royal Arcanum of Brooklyn and Long Island was held in Brooklyn, with William H. McCabe presiding. A resolution was adopted protesting against the failure of the supreme council to recognize the protest registered by the committee of nine, of which Mr. McCabe was chairman, against the new schedule of rates. It was also decided that the councils represented by this committee of nine should not recede from their position and that legislative action be taken looking to a reorganization of the order, so that the 90 per cent of the governing body will be made up of representatives from the subordinate councils instead of as at present constituted.

The meeting also decided that during the coming week some legal action be taken in the courts in Brooklyn, probably in the form of an injunction, against the supreme council directing them to show cause why the council should not be enjoined from putting the new schedule of rates into effect on Oct. 1.

It was announced that on Tuesday evening a meeting of all the representatives of the eastern and middle states councils will take place for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of establishing a new order, as proposed on a previous occasion in Massachusetts.

LOEB'S NEW DISCOVERY.

Another Step Made In His Work of Producing Life.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—A dispatch from San Francisco says Professor Jacques Loeb of the University of California has just made public another step in his work of producing life by artificial methods.

He has found a reason for the appearance of the fertilization membrane which appears around the sea urchin and starfish eggs after they have been penetrated by the active element. He announces that fertilization of the eggs is accomplished by the active elements driving out some substance in the eggs which prevents fertilization.

Professor Loeb found that the membrane is the result of extersion of substances from the egg which lifts it up from the surface. This makes up the fluid lying between the egg and the membrane and appears to contain substances which when in the egg prevent its development. It follows that any chemical which drives out these substances will release the vital mechanism and produce artificial life.

JAPS STILL DISSATISFIED.

Business Interests, However, Ready to Accept Peace Situation.

Tokyo, Sept. 19.—In spite of the fact that the popular dissatisfaction over the peace arrangements continues to be generally expressed, there are indications that the business contingent is slowly sobering down. The capital intended for new enterprises, following the successful conclusion of the treaty of peace, is gradually coming into the banks as deposits in amounts which are likely to lower the rate of interest.

The profound disappointment which has prevailed has at least proved a benefit to the extent of saving the people from any feverish intoxication resulting in bubble enterprises like those which accompanied the close of the war with China. The moneyed class has resumed the attitude of cautious frugality which guided its transactions during the war, the financial outlook is not gloomy and capital is impatiently awaiting solid investments.

Captain's License Revoked.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The department of commerce and labor has revoked the license of the captain of the steamer Oteri, formerly one of the United Fruit company's vessels plying between the West Indies and Baltimore, because of his alleged refusal to aid the president's yacht Sylph when she was disabled off the coast of North Carolina April 12 last after having conveyed Mrs. Roosevelt to Florida.

THE THIRD CORPS.

Formation of Its Line at Battle of Gettysburg.

JUSTIFICATION OF GEN. MEADE

An Address Delivered by Ex-Lieutenant Governor William T. Davies of Towanda att Reunion of One Hundred and Forty-first Regiment.

At the battle of Gettysburg, July 2, 1863, the Third corps was nearly annihilated, and shortly therafter ceased to exist as a separate organization. Many believe it was needlessly exposed in the formation of its line. Since the death of General Meade the friends of General Sickles have constantly kept up a controversy defending the position the corps was finally placed in. Not satisfied with this, they endeavor to throw obloquy and belittle the acts of General Meade. I desire for a few moments to go over the history of the formation of the line of battle of said corps.

Meade arrived at Gettysburg at 1 o'clock on the morning of the Second. He at once examined thelocation, and soon became convinced that the right of our line would be the point of attack by the enemy, and up to 9 a. m. contemplated making an attack on the enemy's left by the Twelfth and Fifth corps. Nearly all the forenoon his attention was specially directed to our right. No human mind could correctly divine where the enemy would make their effort. It is a matter of regret that Meade during said eventful forenoon had not had a near view of Little Round Top and have been familiar with the ground on our left. Had he done so the Third corps would not have been practically annihilated.

You are all familiar with the location of our different corps. On the morning of the Second between six and seven, before the Fifth and Sixth corps had arrived, Meade sent an order to General Sickles to connect his corps with the Second corp's left and to take the position which General Geary had just left to go to our right. Geary had occupied Little Round Top with two regiments the night before. This order is again repeated about 9 a. m. About 11 a. m. Sickles informs Meade that Geary had left him no clearly defined position and that he would desire to advance all his forces a distance of about one mile to the Emmittsburg road, and requests Meade to ascertain for himself or to send General Warren to settle the matter in his place. General Meade was still under the belief that the attack would be on his right and he did not nor Warren go. General Meade then repeated to Sickles the order to remain in the position Geary had left, and acording to an eye witness he pointed out to him with his finger the hillocks of the Round Top as the point which he should allign himself with. General Hunt, chief of artillery, was sent with Sickles to view the ground, the result of which was a refusal to express an opinion which would modify the entire order of battle and Hunt returns to headquarters and requests Meade to go himself to the left before approving the same.

Toward 9 o'clock in the morning Sickles corps occupied the position or part of it designated by Meade. He placed no troops on Little Round Top and the allignment formed by him a continuation of which would have taken him to devils' den, and have left Little Round Top to his rear unprotected.

While General Hunt was with Sickles a reconnoissance was sent to the front beyond the Peach Orchard. On its being driven back Sickles ordered the movement of his whole corps to the advanced line. He placed Birney's divsion from Devils' Den to Peach Orchard, Ward's brigade at the Den De toubands brigade to Wards right and Grahams brigade at the fatal angle or Peach Orchard, and Humphrey's division along Emmittsburg pike to within 500 yards of Hancock's left. He had not men enough to complete his long line. There was but a slight skirmish line for quite a distance between Ward and DeTrobian and his right failed to connect with Hancock's left. He left it easy for the enemly to advance around his left to occupy Little Round Top. He had completed this formation about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Soon after this Meade accompanies Sickles to the Orchard. Meade at once expressed dissatisfaction at the change and Sickles propose to fall back; but already a portion of the artillery had opened the battle, and sharp firing was occuring between the skirmish lines, south and west of the orchard. General Meade points to Sickles the woods on the left towards Devil's Den and replies, "It is too late," and promises re-inforcements. The moment Meade comes upon the ground and observes the long extension of the line so formed, he observes its weakness and the Third corps had not sufficient men to defend it.

For the first time he was in fair view of Little Round Top and its unprotected situation. General Warren, his chief engineer who was by his side, was sent at once to our left, and under the written statement of our own Colonel Addison G. Mason, pointed out to him the Round Tops as a place to defend. No where does it appear that Sickles had taken in the importance of occupying and holding Little Round Top with any portion of his corps. Meade at once on leaving Sickles sent his aids hither and thither ordering troops to the aid of the Third corps. The Fifth corps, a portion of the Twelfth, and Caldwell's division of the Second corps, were sent to the point of danger. Meade was kept busy the balance of the afternoon sending troops to the left and he sent forces from every corps except the Eleventh to the aid of the Third corps to the extent that he endangered a part of his other lines, at one stage during the afternoon leading the troops himself to the point of attack. As :I have said, General Sickles and his friends have not been satisfied to allow the matter to rest, and say as Lincoln said, "There was glory enough for all." We finally were successful, and General Sickles vindicated his bravery with his blood upon his last battlefield. But they have not done so. In three volumes of "New York at Gettysburg" prepared under the auspices of General Sickles and Butterfield they justify the change and urge several reasons: First, that he had not men enough to occupy the Meade line; and yet they undertake to locate and defend a line twice its length. From the left of Devil's Den to Hancock's left, following the new line, was a distance of about two and a half miles. From the southern foot of Little Round Top and northern foot of Big Round Top to Hancock's left, was a little over one mile. The Third corps had about 10,000 men. He could have connected his line with Hancock's left and continued it over Little Round Top to its southern foot and protected the northern front of Big Round Top and have as many men to defend that continuous line along its whole extent as he had at any portion of his new line. But if he did not have men enough he should have pointed that out to General Meade or to General Hunt and have asked for more instead of taking up the whole time in changing the line. When Meade first ordered the location of the Third corps in line they were the only troops on hand he could send there. The Fifth and Sixth corps had not arrived. The The Fifth arrived about 8 a. m. and the 6th about 4 p. m. It is easy to find fault and criticise. Sickles had been in the vicinity of Little Round Top the forenoon of the second. Meade had not. Sickles orders were to occupy the ground Geary had left. This would have covered Little Round Top. Had he done so and spent the time from 9 to 3 locating his men and fortifying if he could, and if he had not men enough to properly defend Round Top have asked for more. He could have made his left invincible. The moment Meade sees Round Top from the orchard he observes its importance and takes measures for its protection.

Again, they say no opportunity to place his artillery, ignoring the fact that on Little Round Top artillery commanded the whole line to Hancock's left and would have been a protection to his whole front from that point; and also that artillery was placed in line a little farther to our right, and on the third day's battle did most effective work.

Again they complain the woods in front of Meade's line. The line Sickles adopted from Devil's Den to the right of De Trobrian's troops, woods were in front of our troops and a portion of the distance in our rear. Also within 400 yards of the Peach Orchard were woods where the enemy could form and did form and be out of our sight.

They also urged the low ground a short distance north of Little Round Top. The allignment made by Sickles which would have carried our troops to the Den, there was low ground but that would have been remedied largely had he made his allignment with Little Round Top and a slight curve toward the east. On the line Sickles adopted on the right of DeTrobrian was lower ground than any on the Meade line.

They make an effort to excuse the angle at the orchard. When Barkesdale from the West and Kershaw from the south struck this line a little after 6 that eventful afternoon, it required but a few moments before it melted away before the converging fires from both sides. The weakness of this position causing us to be driven back, compelled the troops in the wheat field to give away. Had they not received an attack on their flank, in consequence of our line at the orchard yielding and falling back, they would not have retreated. We were driven back a mile across Plum Run and nearly reached the line in our retreat Meade had directed our troops to occupy in the morning, when old Pennsylvania's troops, where we find so many of our county's boys, the Pennsylvania Reserves, met them on the northern slope of Little Round Top and drove them back across Plum night came, the firing ceased and our exhausted soldiers laid down to rest upon mother earth. It is the irony of fate that our defeated Third corps and forces sent to its aid, stayed the advance of the exultant enemy right on the line, from the south foot of Litle Round Top to Zeigler's grove right where the commanding officer had directed it to be formed in the morning, and where they remained until the close of the battle.

The next morning, the Third of July, General Lee did not continue the attack upon our left, although he had driven us back at that point one mile, but ordered the attack to be made on our center. If this point of our line was by its formation so weak, as the New York books would have you believe, why did he not do so? It was not weak but strong. It could be much more easily re-enforced than the former line. The reply comes, we cannot tell how the enemy would have attacked us. General Lee had issued his order for the attack before the advance to the orchard had been made by Sickles, and Longstreet had thrice urged a movement of Lee's army by our left flank south of Big Round Top which Lee had refused to do, but directed the attack to be made in front on our left flank.

Aside from the New York gang, Sickles, Butterfield and a few enemies of General Meade, notably General Doubleday, no prominent military officer has justified the new line of the Third corps. General Hunt, chief of artillery, says: "It would greatly lengthen our line, which in any case must rest upon Round Top and connect with the left of the Second corps, as to require a larger force than the Third corps alone to hold it; and it would be difficult to occupy and strengthen the angle with the woods in front already occupied by the enemy. The whole corps was, however, too weak for the ground to be covered, and when General Meade examined the position it was too late to withdraw it, the battle commenced as he arrived upon the ground."

Colonel Haskell in his narrative avers that he heard both Hancock and Gibbon severely criticise Sickles' forward movement. General Humphrey was asked whether it would not have been better had he taken and held at first theposition to which he finally retired. He replied, "Undoubtedly."

On the morning of the Third our troops occupied the line of battle Meade had ordered Sickles to take on the Second. General Longstreet, in an article published in The Century in 1886, says, "The position of the Federals was quite strong and the battle of the second concentrated them so that I considered an attack from the front more hazardous than the battle on the Second had been. The Federals were concentrated; and the only concentration that had occurred was the occupying of the Meade instead of the Sickles line. General Law who commanded the enemy's right flank at the Den, after the wounding of General Hood, said: "That on the morning of the third about 9 a. m., General Longstreet visited his position and instructed him to be ready to renew the attack on his front at any time, and adds, under the circumstances that then existed, such an attack would have been unadulterated madness."

The greatest military critic of the age, Compte De Paris, says, "Nevertheless it presents such serious difficulties that one cannot approve of the initiative steps taken by General Sickles in planting himself there."

Then refers to the weakness of the line between Gordon and Smith's house, how, the enemy commanded this point; also the salient angle at the orchard so easy to attack on both sides: Also this curved line from Zeigler's grove to Little Round Top has a development double the one he left which before was too long, that the Third corps lost its power of resistance. The Count further says, "if the Federals had waited for him massed between the Round Tops and cemetery hill, supported by two powerful batteries of artillery, they would have inflicted on him the Second of July the check which he experienced the next day."

Then in explaining why Meade failed to attack after Pickett's defeat says Reynolds had been slain, Hancock and Gibbon wounded, and adds, "Sickles, who on the previous day committed an error which may well be pardoned now lies mutilated."

I have gone over the facts connected with the formation of our line on the left and have attempted to answer the weak reasons given why the Meade line was not adopted. I have also given the judgment of our great military captains upon the two lines. I have discussed the two propositions upon the theory that General Sickles did not deviate from the discretion always granted a corps commander. Yet one could hardly discover any discretion left under orders given at 11 a. m. when Little Round Top was pointed out to him as a part of his line. In conversation with Spencer Meade I asked him something of the merits of the two lines. He quickly replied, "That is not the question at all. The question is, What were his orders?" In conversation with Governor Beaver he expressed the opinion that Sickles had not force enough to occupy such a line, but he added, "When two such armies meet there had to be about so much fighting with varied results before either side would yield, and we had the bulk of it on the second day. Any errors committed by brave men like Sickles we can fully and freely condone."

In the providence of God, out of the fearful struggle we were finally successful and Little Round Top, Cemetery and Culp's Hill witnesed the culminating point to which the rebellion reached. The more we study this battle and as time rolls on and we arrive at a proper conclusion the more reason we have to give thanks that General Meade who had only been four days in command when the batle opened, was at the helm. And his cautious, but forceful and tactical action will ever receive the almost universal praise of his thinking fellow countrymen. Permit me at the close to quote what General Hunt said of him in 1888 in a letter to his friend, General Webb. There was no special friendship between General Meade and General Hunt. "As I have studied this battle—because I have written about it and had to study about it, Meade has grown and grown upon me. Meade was suddenly placed in command. From that moment all his acts and intentions, as I can judge of them, were just what they ought to have been. He was right in his order as to Pipe Creek, right in his determination under certain circumstances to fall back, right in pusning up to Gettysburg after the battle commenced, right in remaining there, right in making his battle a purely defensive one, right, therefore, in taking the line he did." Right in not attempting a counter attack at any stage of the battle, right as to his pursuit of Lee. Rarely has more skill, vigor or wisdom been shown under such circumstances as he was placed in, and it would, I think, belittle his grand record of that campaign by a formal defense against his detractors.

SOVERIGN I. O. O. F. MEET AT PHILADELPHIA.

Grand Master M. E. Chubbuck of Towanda Among the Speakers.

The sovereign lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is in session at Philadelphia. At the session on Monday, Mayor Weaver made an address and he was followed by Grand Master Melville E. Chubbuck of Towanda who gave the address of welcome. Mr. Chubbuck said in part:

"Twenty-nine years ago today a session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge was opened in this city and the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania welcomed you through George H. Borie, then Grand Master.

"Today it is my duty, and also my pleasure, to extend to you in the name of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania a most cordial welcome to this the Keystone State.

"In architecture the keystone is the wedge which holds the arch together. In Odd Fellowship, this state, if statistics can be believed, may be said to occupy a like position with its eleven hundred lodges and one hundred and thiry thousaid members, exceeding by far those of any other jurisdiction. Perhaps for this reason we are qualified to extend to you a particularly hearty greeting, and I trust you will not find, as is sometimes the case in other things, that with our large membership the quantity exceeds the quality in our Odd Fellowship."

ECZEMA ON LITTLE GIRL

Sleepless Nights for Mother and Awful Suffering of Child.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Had Given up All Hope of Ever Making Any Cure.

Mrs. I. B. Jones, Addington, Ind. T., writes: "My little girl had been suffering for two years from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her ailment was very severe. I had tried so many remedies and spent so much money, deriving no benefit, I had given up all hope of making any cure. As a last resort I was persuaded to try Cuticura, and to my great delight a marked change was manifested from the first application. I gave the child a bath with Cuticura Soap, using a soft piece of muslin cloth. This I did twice a day, each time following with Cuticura Ointment, and at the same time gave the Resolvent, according to directions. One box of Ointment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Soap, effected a permanent cure. I submit this for publication, hoping it will assist other sufferers in curing themselves."

COMPLETE TREATMENT

Consisting of Cuticura Soap Ointment and Pills.

The first step in the treatment of chronic Eczema is to remove the scales and crusts and soften the skin, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. Dry carefully and apply Cuticura Ointment, lightly at first, and where advisable spread it on pieces of soft cloth and bind in place. Take the Resolvent Pills, or liquid, in medium doses. Do not use cold water in bathing, and avoid cold, raw winds.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props. Send for "How to Cure Eczema."

HENRY S. LEONARD, TROY'S OLDEST MERCHANT DEAD.

In Business There Since 1845—Death Was Sudden and Unexpected.

Henry S. Leonard, for 60 years identified with the mercantile business of Troy borough, and one of the best known citizens of western Bradford county, died on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. He was taken ill on Sunday with acute indigestion, but his condition was not thought alarming until noon of Monday, when his heart became affected. He remained conscious, however, to the end. Mr. Leonard was Troy's senior merchant, having been in business there for 60 years, and was honored and respected by all who knew him.

Henry Stever Leonard was born in Springfield township on Nov. 1 1828, the son of Ezekiel and Huldah Stever Leonard. His paternal grandfather, Ezekiel Leonard, came from Springfield, Mass., to what is now Leona, in Springfield township, in 1806. Henry S. Leonard was educated in the Troy academy and began life for himself in Troy as a clerk in 1845. Seven years later he went into business for himself and different partnerships existed until 1866, when Redington, Maxwell & Leonard built the handsome brick store now occupied by Newell Bros. This is the most pretentious store building in the Western part of the county. Shortly after that time Mr. Maxwell withdrew from the firm and for many years Redington & Leonard were one of the largest mercantile houses in that section. Mr. Leonard of late yaers conducted a small business on East Main street.

He was married on Jan. 4, 1860, to Ann E. Crouch of Cortand, N. Y., who with one son, Harry S., and a daughter, Mrs. Ann E. Johnson, both of New York, survives him. Mr. Leonard took an active interest in public affairs, having been a member of the borough council for a longer period than any other member.

SOME TOWANDA INDUSTRIES.

Notes About the Factories and Shops of the County Seat.

The Towanda Silk Mill is now employing 40 hands. An excellent lot of employes has been secured and the character and ability of each one engaged is carefully investigated. Work will soon begin on installing the electric light plant andl the steam heating plant. Machinery is still arriving and when it is all here the big floor space will be filled with machines. The owners of these various mills have decided not to abandon the Schickshinny mill. It was the first intention to dismantle the mill there but as the building was leased for two years yet and there is a big demand for the throwing mills' product it has been determined to run the mill on a small scale, for the present at least.

The Towanda Knitting Mill, of which W. J. Young, Esq., is manager, has been shut down for several days on account of the smoke stack blowing down. It was known that the stack was in bad shape and one had been ordered from the Humphrey Manufacturing company. Work is being hurried on the new stack now. The knitting mill has orders for several months ahead. It is worth a visit to the mill to see the bank of automatic knitting machines run. The manner in which they knit a stocking and automatically change from the fancy knit on the leg of the stocking to the plain knitting of the heel and toe is a marvel.

Frost's Sons furniture facory had to shut down Tuesday on account of a stoppage of the water pipes. This is another Towanda industry which has been loaded up with orders for its goods. Frost's Sons always made good, reliable furniture and when dealers buy it they know they can depend on its quality.

Calkins—Ballard.

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 6, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Calkins of East Troy, Pa., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their daughter, Rubie Eunice, was united in marriage to Benamin L. Ballard, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Job Ballard. At 6:30, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. C. W. Rockwell; the bride leaning on the arm of the groom, entered the parlor, and underneath an arch of evergreen and white flowers, the Rev. L. A. Roberts performed the marriage service. After congratulations, the guests, about 40 in number, were ushered to the dining room, where an elegant supper was served by four young lady friends, the Misses Allys, Bessie and Stella VanHorn, and Cora Smiley, with Miss Jennie Nelson of Troy, as cateress.

The bride was charmingly dressed in white mull, trimmed in all over lace, and aplique; she carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The going away gown was brown sicilian, with hat to match. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, consisting of dinner set, silverware, china, and a handsome chair. Amid a shower of rice, and good wishes, the happy couple departed for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. On their return they will be at home to their friends at "Homestead Farm."

Salvation Army Harvest Festival.

On Wednesday of next week the Towanda corps of the Salvation Army will hold its annual harvest festival and display of produce and gifts, in Salvation Army hall. Contributions of all kinds and money will be thankfully received. The proceeds of the festival will be used in both local and national work. A large amount of money is used to sustain the 21 rescue homes for fallen women. Last year the army was successful in reaching 3,351 of this class, and of this number 93 per cent were restored to lives of virtue, while 85 per cent became christians.

FALSE INFORMATION.

Some Miscreant Sent Fake Notice of Canton Girl's Wedding.

In the Williamsport Grit, Sept. 4, Sunday, there was published a notice of the marriage of Miss Kittie Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stone of Canton, and W. C. Miller, of Mansfield. The marriage is alleged to have been performed by O. T. Haight, justice of the peace at the home of Geo. Palmer in Mansfield, on September 3.

The item was false. Mr. Stone went to Williamsport on Monday and called at the office of Grit for an explanation. He was shown the notice received, bearing the signature of Mr. Haight. The justice, when interviewed, pronounced the signature a forgery. The handwriting of the notice sent Grit bears striking resemblance to an anonymous letter received by Mr. Stone a few days ago, and may lead to discovering of the party who sent the false information. The giving of false information to newspapers is a very serious offence, while the forgery of Mr. Haight's name adds to the gravity of the case.

Sayre Comedy of Errors.

Three men who had been drinking in front of the First National bank at Sayre broke their emptied whiskey bottle. Policeman Vogel heard the crash and thought they were bank robbers. He started and the men ran. He gave chase, called on them to halt and then fired at them. Officer Repp appeared on the scene. He saw a boy picking up a hat near the place and run back and hand it to a bareheaded man, Another burglar! Officer Repp gave chase and fired at the fleeing man. Result of the two shots, three innocent men, Ed. Morrison, shot in the right arm, Daniel Sullivan two patches off his hand and a man whose name is unknown lip cut by a bullet. The three drunks are still at large.

After Stolen Horses.

P. J. O'Brien of Galeton, came to this vicinity on Monday of last week in search of three horses which had been stolen from him. He suspected George and Burt McDowell of South Waverly, who were recently in his employ. He caught them in South Waverly driving his team and immediately took possession. He swore out a warrant and succeeded in landing George, who was locked up. Burt and the other horse are missing. He also swore out a warrant before Justice Hoagland charging Burt McDowell with being a fugitive from justice, and the Waverly officers are searching for him.—Athens News.

A Unique Dwelling.

Landlord Richard E. Urell has just finished fitting up a house near his hotel in Tioga with old-fashioned furniture and family heirlooms. Every article in the house, which is completely furnished, is from 75 to 100 or more years old and well preserved. The place is decidedly unique and is worth going miles to see. The door yard is filled with the favorite posies of our grandmothers' time.

Will Take Up Their Residence in LeRaysville Borough.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Edwards of East Middletown, Pa., on Aug. 31, when their daughter, Gertrude M., was married to William E. Chaffee of LeRaysville.

The bride, dressed in a gown of Persian lawn, trimmed with valenciennes lace, carrying a bouquet of sweet peas and maidenhair fern, entered promptly at 12 o'clock, noon, on the arm of the groom, the Lohengrin wedding march being unusually well rendered by Miss Edith Horton. They were married by the Rev. W. C. Tilden, under a bower of evergreens entwined with white flowers and embanked with potted plants, which was the work of friends of the bride and groom. The decorations of the room were similar to those of the bower.

The bride received many handsome and useful presents, among them being silverware, china, linen and household furniture.

After partaking of an elaborate spread and receiving the usual congratulations, the bride and groom started on a short wedding tour through the west, amid a shower of rice and old shoes. On their return they will be at home at LeRaysville to their many friends.—LeRaysville Times.

A PECULIAR FIRE.

Origin of a Blaze at Warren Centre a Mystery.

The large barn owned by Abel Pendleton, who lives about a mile and a half east of Warren Centre, was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon, Sept. 9 together wth its contents. The barn yas a large one with a basement, and was built about fifteen years ago. It was worth about $1,500, and was insured in the Tuscarora insurance company. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

During the day Wesley Bowen, with his force of men, had been threshing there. The wind was blowing away from the barn and it is almost certain that no sparks could have blown into it. Some of the men were in the hay mow, passing the oats to the machine. Suddenly the hay became ablaze in all parts. The men scampered out of the hay. While escaping Frank B. Chaffee, of South Owego, had his face scorched.

It is believed that the hay caught fire from spontaneous combustion. A theory, which seems improbable but which is being advanced by some, is that the barn, having been struck by lightning five years ago, retained the electricity, which so suddenly ignited the hay.

A small fee will be charged to Elmira, and the Queen City business will be in close connection with a couple of thousand homes in this section."
